Introduction

Culture is vital to the growth of a nation or a people. Culture is regarded as the spiritual support of a nation, and its importance cannot be underestimated. Cultural self-confidence is the basic condition for promoting the prosperity and development of culture, the main driving force for comprehensively shortening the socialist modernization of a strong country, and the basic prerequisite for realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. In recent years, against the background of China's rapid economic development and the improvement of its international status, firming up cultural self-confidence has become an important task in the construction of a strong socialist cultural country. Cultural self-confidence refers to the self-confidence in one's own cultural traditions, cultural values and cultural spirit, and is an attitude and state of mind that identifies with and consciously maintains the depth of culture itself.

The construction of a strong socialist culture is an important strategic task and one of the keys to realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation.<sup>1</sup> In the new era, we are faced with many opportunities and challenges, and in order to realize the Chinese dream of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, it is necessary to adhere to the cultural self-confidence, actively cultivate and carry forward the socialist core values, strengthen the cultural innovation and inheritance, and promote the prosperity of the socialist culture, and build a strong socialist culture. cultural powerhouse.

The importance of building a strong socialist culture cannot be overstated. First, culture is the soul of a country and a nation. A country with a strong culture is able not only to maintain its uniqueness and individuality, but also to stand out in global competition. Secondly, culture is an important part of a country's soft power. By strengthening culture, we are able to better showcase China's traditional and modern cultural achievements and enhance the country's international image and influence. Once again, culture is an important support for social development. A country with a rich and diverse cultural ecosystem can provide its people with richer spiritual food and promote social harmony and stability.

History and reality have proved that the Chinese nation has strong cultural creativity. At major historical junctures, culture has been able to sense the changes in the nation's fortunes, stand at the head of the tide of the times, and give the first voice of the times, and has been a rallying cry for hundreds of millions of people and for the great motherland. Chinese culture has not only maintained its roots but also advanced with the times, enabling the Chinese people to maintain firm national confidence and strong restorative capacity, and to cultivate common emotions and values, common ideals and spirits. How can we better achieve cultural inheritance, cultural innovation and cultural exchanges, and realize a strong culture?

1. Firming cultural confidence and promoting Chinese civilization

Chinese civilization, with its unique historical lineage and cultural heritage, is the spiritual home of the Chinese nation. This rich cultural heritage provides us with firm cultural confidence and is the cornerstone of our efforts to build a strong socialist culture. Chinese civilization has a long history and its long civilization tradition is deeply rooted in the heart of the nation, which not only gives impetus to the development of Chinese civilization, but also is the fundamental driving force for the Chinese nation to achieve great rejuvenation and construct a new height of Chinese civilization.

First of all, we need to understand and cherish the Chinese civilization. From ancient times to the present, the splendid history of Chinese civilization has provided us with a wealth of wisdom and spiritual wealth, and these valuable treasures are our pride and the source of our self-confidence. Revolutionary culture and advanced socialist culture represent the unique spiritual style of the Chinese nation and are the important support for our firm cultural confidence in the new era. Second, Chinese civilization has strong continuity. For thousands of years, the enduring strength and continuous development of traditional Chinese culture have kept it at the forefront globally, adding endless momentum to our national culture. In the new historical period, we should continue to be firm in our historical and cultural self-confidence, and draw our forward momentum from the long history of the Chinese nation. Finally, we should actively promote Chinese civilization. Adopting diversified means, from traditional culture to modern science and technology, we should pass on the essence of Chinese civilization to everyone, so that its splendid flower can be rekindled and bring a splendid cultural landscape to the world. In addition, it should embrace multiculturalism and draw on the best elements of foreign civilizations to continuously improve and enhance the connotation of Chinese civilization.

Firm cultural confidence is the key to building a strong socialist cultural power. We should cherish Chinese civilization, pass on the national spirit, and make unremitting efforts to realize the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. Chinese civilization is powerfully inclusive and peaceful. From ancient times to the present, the Chinese have always insisted on the concepts of living together in harmony, respecting differences and turning conflicts into friendship. In the long history of cultural integration, whether it is the introduction and gradual Sinicization of Buddhism during the Han and Wei Dynasties, or the "Eastward Progression of Western Learning" in the Ming and Qing Dynasties and in modern times, Chinese civilization has always maintained an open and learning attitude, taking in the best of all worlds and constantly enriching and developing. This outstanding inclusiveness determines that Marxism can be combined with the excellent traditional Chinese culture and be absorbed by Chinese civilization.

2. Promote creative transformation and innovative development, and use socialist culture with Chinese characteristics to shape the builders of socialism with Chinese characteristics in the new era

Culture is the soul of a country and a nation, and is also an important support for a country's governance system and capacity. As China's comprehensive national strength and international status continue to rise, the soft power of Chinese culture has been significantly enhanced, providing a solid foundation for promoting Chinese culture to the world. At the same time, we should also recognize that, in the context of globalization, various cultural exchanges and exchanges have become more frequent, and Chinese culture is facing unprecedented opportunities and challenges. Therefore, we need to better shoulder the new cultural mission, strengthen cultural self-confidence, promote the creative transformation and innovative development of the excellent traditional Chinese culture, so that Chinese culture can shine more brilliantly in the new era<sup>[1]</sup>.

In the new era, we need to be firm in our cultural confidence, promote the creative transformation and innovative development of the excellent traditional Chinese culture, and continuously create a new culture that meets the development needs of the times. First of all, we should strengthen the excavation and protection of Chinese excellent traditional culture. Chinese excellent traditional culture is the treasure of the Chinese nation and an important part of Chinese civilization. Dig deeper into the value connotation of Chinese excellent traditional culture. Chinese excellent traditional culture contains a wealth of ideological concepts, humanistic spirit, moral norms and other value connotations, which are the spiritual treasures of the Chinese nation and the foundation of socialist culture with Chinese characteristics in the new era. We should deeply study the historical origin, development lineage and basic direction of Chinese excellent traditional culture, and deeply excavate the philosophical ideas, humanistic spirit, moral norms and other value connotations contained therein, so as to provide useful reference for the construction of socialist culture with Chinese characteristics in the new era. Secondly, the popularization and education of Chinese excellent traditional culture should be strengthened. Chinese excellent traditional culture is a valuable treasure of the Chinese nation and the common wealth of all mankind. We should strengthen the popularization and education of Chinese excellent traditional culture through various ways and means, so that more people can understand and know Chinese excellent traditional culture, and thus better inherit and carry forward Chinese excellent traditional culture. In addition, promoting creative transformation and innovative development is an important task in the construction of socialist culture with Chinese characteristics in the new era. Although Chinese excellent traditional culture has rich value connotations, it needs to keep pace with the times and combine with the spirit of the times in order to better play its role.

3. Strengthening cultural self-confidence and creating a new form of human civilization through civilizational exchanges and mutual understanding

Civilizations are more colorful because of exchanges, and they are enriched by mutual learning. Against the backdrop of globalization, cultural exchanges and exchanges have become more frequent, and Chinese culture is facing unprecedented opportunities and challenges. We should actively participate in international cultural exchanges and cooperation with an open and inclusive mindset, strengthen cultural exchanges and mutual learning with other countries around the world, bring Chinese culture to the center of the world stage, and contribute Chinese wisdom and Chinese solutions to the promotion of building a community of human destiny.

First of all, the core values of Chinese culture must be adhered to and carried forward. Excellent traditional Chinese culture is the spiritual lifeblood of the Chinese nation, and the concepts of the universe, the world, society and morality contained therein are of great significance in shaping the values, cultural spirit and moral orientation of the whole nation. We should deeply excavate and expound the contemporary value of Chinese excellent traditional culture, so that Chinese culture can display more distinctive national characteristics and contemporary charm<sup>[2]</sup>.

At the same time, we should actively promote civilizational exchanges and mutual understanding, so that Chinese culture and other cultures in the world can learn from each other and progress together. Civilizational exchanges and mutual understanding is a key factor in promoting the common development of mankind, which not only eliminates regional and cultural differences, but also strengthens mutual understanding and establishes sincere friendship. With an open and tolerant mindset, we should actively carry out cultural exchanges with other countries around the world, absorb the excellent achievements of human civilization, and promote Chinese culture to the world in a better way. In addition, we should promote the harmonious coexistence of Chinese culture and world culture with a high sense of historical responsibility and cultural commitment. In the context of globalization, various cultures are intertwined and interact with each other, showing an unprecedented trend of intermingling. We should adhere to the principles of equality, respect and tolerance in cultural exchanges, oppose cultural hegemony and the doctrine of civilizational superiority, promote harmonious coexistence among different cultures, and jointly build a community of human destiny.

Firming cultural self-confidence is a major issue concerning the rise and fall of the nation, cultural security, and the spiritual independence of the nation. In the long process of history, the Chinese nation has created a far-reaching Chinese culture, and the Chinese nation's cultural self-confidence is mainly embodied in the confidence in the excellent traditional Chinese culture, the confidence in the revolutionary culture, and the confidence in the socialist advanced culture<sup>[3]</sup>. Against the macro background of the progress of human civilization and the great changes that the world has not seen in a century, it is an inevitable requirement for building the modern civilization of the Chinese nation and creating a new form of human civilization to firmly uphold cultural self-confidence and promote exchanges and mutual understanding among civilizations.

4. Conclusion

In short, it is the responsibility and mission of each and every one of us to better shoulder the new cultural mission. With a high sense of historical responsibility and the spirit of cultural responsibility, let's strengthen cultural confidence, promote cultural innovation, strengthen cultural exchanges and cooperation, and jointly promote Chinese culture to shine more brilliantly in the new era.
